The price differential may be considerable.

But, what justifies the price differential?

The answer is always “added value”!

When you buy ADVERTISING CREDITS from TEXAS HOLDINGS, INC, if you provide “added value” as desired by TEXAS HOLDINGS, INC, the ADVERTISING CREDITS may be repurchased, paying you full retail value equal to four times the price at which they were acquired by you.

Acquiring ADVERTISING CREDITS requires simultaneous ordering of items with the same price from a SUPPLIER registered with TEXAS HOLDINGS, INC.

You may use funds from the repurchase to pay for the items ordered from the SUPPLIER, or to recover the cost if you already paid the SUPPLIER.

And, you could have twice the value of the items you ordered from the SUPPLIER as additional profit.

The “added value” that TEXAS HOLDINGS, INC wants is referral business that provides ADVERTISING CREDITS income accumulated to eight times the value of the ADVERTISING CREDITS involved in your purchase transaction.

To keep this from being “over-whelming”, remember the saying, “Anyone can eat an elephant, one bite at a time!”

In short, break it down into “bite sizes”, and repetition with the same referrals may quickly take care of business!

By the way, “referrals” do not even have to know you; they may simply represent business that you identify and pass on as information to a CENTER!

USING CREDIT

A SUPPLIER may offer a BUYER the use of COMMERCIAL CREDIT the SUPPLIER may obtain through TEXAS HOLDINGS, INC, for the BUYER to acquire the ADVERTISING CREDITS, with terms that may be negotiated by the BUYER with the SUPPLIER.

So, that, completing the “added value” requirements, you may use the resulting income to repay the COMMERCIAL CREDIT, to recover any funds you may have used in the transaction, to acquire the items you want from the SUPPLIER, and receive an additional income equal to twice the value of the items!

You may also negotiate to obtain items you want from the SUPPLIER, upfront, by applying for additional credit to be arranged for you commercially by the SUPPLIER and/or with financial lenders; which you could repay through completing the “added value” requirements associated with repurchase of the ADVERTISING CREDITS.

Business with ADVERTISING CREDITS may be structured similar to a gas station receiving gasoline on consignment and paying for it once it is sold.

Or, like unto taking plants from a wholesale nursery, on consignment, to be paid for once retailed.

In short, by negotiating every purchase as a business transaction, using credit but repaying with referral profits instead of spending money or creating debt to be serviced, every business can expand business income to pay off existing debt and/or enjoy growing self-capitalization.
